THE UNIVERSITY

Sonoma State University is one of the 23 campuses of the California State University. Located in the Sonoma County wine country, 48 miles north of San Francisco, the University has an enrollment of approximately 9,000 students. As of spring 2014, the University had 595 faculty with 41% tenure-track. The University is comprised of six schools: Arts and Humanities, Business and Economics, Education, Extended and International Education, Social Sciences, and Science and Technology. Degrees are offered in 46 majors at the bachelor's level and 15 at the master's level. Sonoma State University occupies 274 acres in the beautiful wine country of Sonoma County, in Northern California. Located at the foot of the Sonoma hills, the campus is just an hour’s drive north of San Francisco and 40 minutes away from the Pacific Ocean.

THE DEPARTMENT

Voted among the Most Wired, Top Green & Best Value schools in America (Princeton Review), Sonoma State University offers generous scholarships and performance opportunities in instrumental, choral, jazz, and music theatre.

Our graduates are high achievers who go on to successful careers as music educators and mentors, jazz and recording artists, and performers in all media from symphonies and pit orchestras to clubs and sound studios. Music students at Sonoma State enroll in one of the following degree programs: the Bachelor of Music degree in Jazz Studies, Music Education, or Vocal/Instrumental Performance; the Bachelor of Arts degree in Music, Liberal Studies concentration; or the Music Minor. The Department of Music’s motto is Aim High. Reach Wide. Educate All.

Accredited since 1972 by the National Association of Schools of Music, the Department of Music at Sonoma State is situated an hour north of San Francisco in the heart of California’s wine country. Crisp mornings fueled by Pacific Ocean breezes give way to dry and sunny days, providing an idyllic climate for work and play.

The Department of Music is housed in the Donald and Maureen Green Music Center, a state-of-the-art performing arts complex within a public university that includes the 1400-seat Joan and Sanford I. Weill Hall, the 250-seat Schroeder Recital Hall, an education wing, and meeting and conference facilities.

Since Lang Lang’s solo performance at Weill Hall’s Grand Opening in 2012, the breath-taking acoustics of this uniquely designed space have attracted such artists as Yo-Yo Ma, the Vienna Philharmonic, Herbie Hancock, Itzhak Perlman, John Adams, Anne-Sophie Mutter, Wynton Marsalis and countless others.
The Hall serves the campus and community as both a major concert venue and the performance space for the Department of Music. Student ushers get the added perk of earning money while experiencing top-tier talent!

DUTIES OF THE POSITION

We seek a dynamic and collaborative person to become Director of the Walford Recording Studio and Assistant Professor of Music, a full-time tenure track position in the Department of Music at Sonoma State University.

The Walford Recording Studio is a Pro Tools based environment with RedNet capability for remote recording from the Green Music Center’s performing venues; Schroeder and Weill Hall. The successful candidate will have expertise in Pro Tools, audio engineering and post-production, as well as extensive knowledge of sound recording teaching methodologies. The ideal candidate will possess significant professional experience along with a record of excellence in teaching at the undergraduate level. Experience in professional multi-track recording studios is required.

Teaching responsibilities include courses in Music Technology: Tools and Applications (for Music Education majors), Audio and Recording Production I and II for serious composition and jazz majors.

We seek a person not only with the passion to direct the recording studio and classes but the versatility to fulfill other teaching responsibilities with an enthusiasm and commitment to undergraduate education. The successful candidate will, therefore, possess extensive background in composing such that teaching composition lessons and a weekly composers forum can be a regular assignment. The ideal candidate will have a secondary interest in the area of ethnomusicology with the ability to teach a survey of world music course. To fill out a full-time teaching load additional responsibilities will likely include teaching in the music core (theory, ear training, etc.) and general education (Freshman Learning Community, Sophomore Year Research and Creative Experience). The successful candidate will also become the program director for a certificate program in Audio and Recording Technology open to matriculated students and community members through the School of Extended and International Education.

The successful candidate will take an active role in the recruitment of music majors; collaborate with faculty, maintain an excellent regional, national and even international reputation as a composer and establish and maintain active working relationships with state and regional teachers.

In addition to teaching and scholarship, faculty are expected to engage in academic advising, to assist the department with program assessment, administrative and/or committee work, and to serve on campus-wide committees.

PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS

To be recommended for appointment, the candidate must have a doctorate in music, either PhD or DMA is required. The selected candidate will have substantial relevant experience at the university level, evidence of outstanding musicianship skills and proven ability to lead a recording program.
We are most interested in driven and passionate candidates who possess the philosophy that music is a vital necessity, and the ability to communicate such passion to the department in a creative and energizing approach. The successful candidate will be a superb teacher and musician, with the ability to work in a collegial spirit in a medium sized department where collaboration and cooperation are strongly valued and cherished.

To be recommended for tenure, the candidate must demonstrate satisfactory performance in four areas: teaching effectiveness; scholarship, research, creative achievement and professional development; service to the University; and public service and service to the community. Although tenure may be granted at any time, contract provisions specify that "the normal period of probation shall be a total of six (6) years of full-time probationary service and credited service, if any. Any deviation from the normal six (6) year probationary period shall be the decision of the President following his/her consideration of recommendations from the department or equivalent unit and appropriate administrator(s).” Tenure is required for promotion above the level of Associate Professor.

RANK AND SALARY

Assistant Professor (salary range will be $64,000 - $66,000). Within this range salary is dependent upon educational preparation and experience.
