sis on political science. Course includes learning library research skills and practice with print resources and electronic sources.

POL S 302 SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH METHODS (4)
Social science research and statistical methods, which includes as a significant component computer-based data analysis using the SPSS (Statistical Package for the Social Sciences) programs. It may include building data files and data analysis using multivariate tables, correlations, and regression techniques in a directed research project. The course includes a two-hour laboratory.

POL S 303 COMPARATIVE POLITICAL ANALYSIS (4)
Reviews the principal concepts and theories of comparative politics, and assesses the institutions that comprise varied systems of government. Concrete examples taken from modern systems will be applied throughout the course. Special attention is focused on the political systems of Britain, France, Japan, Russia, and China.
Students are assigned research projects on political systems of developing nations.

POL S 304 THEORY AND ANALYSIS OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS (4)
An introductory analysis of the dynamics of the international political system, stressing the roles of supranational organizations, and internal and external factors in foreign policy formulation by nation-states. Review of traditional and contemporary theories of international interaction.

POL S 307 PERSPECTIVES ON THE HOLOCAUST AND GENOCIDE (4)
This course is a weekly lecture series on the Holocaust, selected genocides, and human rights. Guest lecturers and SSU faculty provide a variety of political and interdisciplinary perspectives on the topics. The course explores the intellectual, emotional, and ethical aspects of the Holocaust and genocides and seeks to deepen students’ understanding of organized society, political leadership, democratic participation, and human nature. Students also attend a weekly discussion group to explore and synthesize information presented in the weekly lectures. Prerequisite: upper division or graduate standing. Satisfies upper-division GE Area D5, (Contemporary International Perspectives.)

POL S 310 CLASSICAL POLITICAL THOUGHT (2-4)
A comprehensive look at the foundations of Western political thought, with particular attention to the theories of Plato, Aristotle, and Thomas Aquinas.

POL S 311 MODERN POLITICAL THOUGHT: MACHIAVELLI TO OBAMA (4) Examination of the major writings from Machiavelli to the present. Emphasis on original sources and development of student opinions on ideas discussed.

POL S 312 AMERICAN POLITICAL THOUGHT (4)
An examination of the development of American political ideas as reflected in the works and careers of representative writers and political leaders.

POL S 313 CRITICAL THEORY: RACE AND GENDER (4) Using race and gender as analytical tools, we investigate how major authors in the field “deconstruct” concepts such as rights, democracy, the autonomous individual, and freedom. We will evaluate the central proposition of critical theory that these political principles have been used to “disguise” disparities in power and resources in this country. The ultimate question students will answer is how useful critical theory is in reevaluating our political values as we face an increasingly diverse and interdependent world.

POL S 315 MODERN POLITICAL IDEOLOGIES (3-4) Examination of the major ideas of important theorists about the relationships among democracy, capitalism, and socialism. A consideration of the actual strengths and shortcomings of some of the current world’s major political/economic systems that attempt to put these ideas into practice. Satisfies GE Area D5 (Contemporary International Perspectives).

POL S 320 STATE, CITY, AND COUNTY GOVERNMENT (4)
An introductory study of the political structure and process at the state, county, and municipal levels, with emphasis on urban and regional problems. The changing relationships between the state and federal governments will be explored. Political decision making at all three levels will be discussed in depth. Satisfies, by petition, the state code requirement in California state and local government. Can be used to fulfill prerequisite courses for the M.P.A. program for structure of state and local government agencies, as well as the political science requirement for the California cultural studies major.

POL S 330 RACE, ETHNICITY, AND POLITICS (4)
A survey of the unique impact of race and ethnicity on American politics, including analysis of constitutional, legal, and historical factors affecting the status of persons of color. Attention to the role race and ethnicity play in the media, elections, political participation and representation, public opinion, public policy, and popular culture.

POL S 345 MODEL UNITED NATIONS (MUN) (4)
Introduction to the political structure and functions of the United Nations, with emphasis on team participation at the Western MUN or National MUN in New York.
Students play decision-maker roles that they research for preparation of position papers on agenda items. Consent of instructor required.

POL S 350 EUROPEAN PARLIAMENTARY DEMOCRACIES (4)
The theory and practice of democratic government in Britain, France, and Germany.
Using the United States as a basis for comparison, the course will consider the many important variations in the ways parties, parliaments, bureaucracies, and executives have developed and perform in the European political arena.

POL S 351 POLITICS OF RUSSIA (4)
The political evolution of Russia in the post-Soviet era. Evaluation of Russian political institutions and political culture. Appraisal of the most significant problems affecting democratic transition. Review of Soviet political traditions.

POL S 352 POLITICS OF EASTERN EUROPE (4)
The political development of the East European nations from the interwar period to the present. Special attention is paid to the problems and prospects for democratic transition in the region, with particular concentration on Hungary, the Czech Republic, Poland, and the former Republics of Yugoslavia.
POLS 354 COMPARATIVE POLITICAL PARTIES (4)
A comparative approach to the structure and dynamics of political parties, party systems, and electoral law. The course will consider parties and their impact on the political process in the United States, Europe, and selected cases in other global areas.

POLS 390 SPECIAL TOPICS (1-4)
A seminar lecture series on a specific theme or topic presented by members of the department, other SSU faculty, and guest speakers. May be audited or taken for credit. May be repeated for credit with different topic.

POLS 391 GENDER AND POLITICS (4)
This course explores how gender is used to interpret American politics. Major works in the field are used to investigate the explanatory power of gender as an analytic category. Specific topics include the Constitution, elections, the media, social movements, race, sexuality, and comparative issues. How these aspects of American politics affect, and are affected by, men and women will be addressed.

POLS 406 INTERDISCIPLINARY SEMINAR (1-4)

POLS 415 EXPLORATIONS IN POLITICAL THEORY (3-4)
A seminar dealing with selected topics in political theory, including contemporary theories of the political system, the political novel, revolutionary theorists, and socialist theory. A different area of emphasis will be offered each year. Consult Schedule of Classes for current offering.

POLS 420 AMERICAN POLITICAL DEVELOPMENT (4)
The development of American Political institutions including the Congress, the Presidency, the Political Party System, the Public Bureaucracy, and Federalism over time from the early years of the republic to the present. Emphasis will be upon explaining stability, critical junctures, and political change on those institutions understood from a development perspective.

POLS 421 FEDERAL AND INTERGOVERNMENTAL RELATIONS (3-4)
This course examines how the different levels of government interact in the creation and implementation of public policies at the federal, state, and local levels. The class provides students with an understanding of the theory and reality of federalism in the American political system. Can be used to fulfill prerequisite course for M.P.A. program for intergovernmental relations.

POLS 423 INTRODUCTION TO CONSTITUTIONAL LAW (4)
Judicial interpretation of the Constitution, with particular emphasis upon separation of powers, presidential powers, relationship between state and national government control of interstate commerce, and jurisdiction of the courts. Cross-listed as CCJS 404.

POLS 424 THE BILL OF RIGHTS, CIVIL LIBERTIES, AND THE CONSTITUTION (4)
Judicial interpretation of the Constitution in the areas of civil liberties, freedom of speech, freedom of religion, rights of persons accused of crimes, citizenship, and the government's responsibility to protect persons from discrimination. Cross-listed as CCJS 489.

POLS 425 THE AMERICAN PARTY SYSTEM (4)
An examination of political parties in the American system. Comparison with party systems in other democratic countries, independent voters, third parties, proposed reforms, and the nature of the electorate. Satisfies, with Political Science department chair's signature, the state code requirement in U.S. constitution and California state and local government.

POLS 426 THE LEGISLATIVE PROCESS (4)
An examination of the organization and operation of the American Congress. For comparative purposes, legislatures in selected American states and Western European democracies will be briefly considered. Satisfies, with Political Science department chair's signature, the state code requirement in U.S. Constitution and California state and local government.

POLS 427 THE AMERICAN PRESIDENCY (4)
An examination of the place of the Presidency in the American governmental system. Emphasis will be placed upon the interplay between the president and other elements of the system, particularly the Congress, the bureaucracy, and the media. Satisfies, with Political Science department chair’s signature, the state code requirements in U.S. Constitution and California state and local government.

POLS 428 SEMINAR IN CALIFORNIA POLITICS AND GOVERNMENT (4)
Analysis of the California political system. Attention is given to governmental institutions, but primary emphasis is upon parties, interest groups, public opinion, ideologies, and leadership. POLS 444 UNITED STATES FOREIGN POLICY (4)
An analysis of the forces, governmental and non-governmental, that influence the formulation of U.S. foreign policy. An examination of the organizational structure charged with the formulation and execution of that policy, as well as the content of policy since World War II.

POLS 445 INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS (4)
An analysis of the theories and concepts guiding the study of international organizations, followed by an examination of the United Nations, the European Union, NATO, the WTO and other financial institutions, and various non-governmental organizations.

POLS 446 INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS OF THE MIDDLE EAST: ISRAEL, THE PALESTINIANS, AND THE UNITED STATES (4)
An examination of the evolution of the Palestinian-Israeli conflict with an emphasis on how regional and world power factors have affected, and been affected by, this conflict. The course will cover the historical background of modern European imperialism, the nature and character of the Palestine Mandate period, followed by discussion of the creation of the state of Israel in 1948 and the simultaneous emergence of the Palestinian Problem. The 1956, 1967, and 1973 Arab-Israeli wars and their relation to the rise of the Palestinian Resistance Movement will then be covered, followed by an analysis of the “peace process” of the 1990s and its breakdown.
POLS 447 Nonviolent Strategies in International Relations (4)
The use of force is often considered to be the most effective form of power, yet nonviolent strategies of action can, in many cases, provide more efficient and successful means to achieve one's goals than the ultimate ratio of violence. Those who rely on “just war theory” to advocate for the necessity of war should note that in the 20th century (and early 21st century), nonviolent forms of resistance to oppressive authority generated more profound social and political transformations than violence. Most recently, direct nonviolent action has helped facilitate democratic transitions and is proving to be the most promising means to bring justice and overcome oppression in current struggles in Burma, Egypt, Iran, Iraq, Western Sahara, Zimbabwe, and Belarus. This course will draw on a range of literature, theory, and case studies in international relations to examine these and other questions: “When is nonviolence a preferable alternative, both ethically and strategically?”, “How does the regime context (e.g., open society vs. dictatorship) influence the menu of nonviolent options?”, “Why have some nonviolent movements been successful while others have failed?”, and “What insights does the application of nonviolent action provide to the global community?”.

POLS 448 Political Violence, Terrorism, and Law (4)
An examination of political violence, terrorism, and legal structures affecting management of conflict. Includes introduction to scientific methodologies used to study political violence and both current and historical conflicts. Course learning objectives include: gaining an understanding of social science conceptions of “terrorism” and “political violence”; increasing knowledge of terrorism actors, motivations, organizations, and forces that mark the use of violence for political gain; gaining knowledge of the historical epochs of political violence and the controversies that result from a response by targeted nations and actors; and creating, examining, and analyzing theories and concepts that inform our understanding of legal structures, terrorism, and political violence.

POLS 450 Politics of Asia (4)
A comparative analysis of the political development of Asia. After a review of the legacy of colonialism and those theories related to economic development and democratic transition, this course will examine the political systems of selected countries in the region.

POLS 452 Politics of the Developing World (4)
A comparative analysis of politics and political development of Third World countries. International and domestic obstacles to modernization will be studied. The general analysis will be supplemented by an intensive scrutiny of selected countries and regions.

POLS 453 Politics of Latin America (4)

POLS 475 Urban Politics and Policy (4)
Examination of the structure and process of urban and regional governments within the context of state sovereignty. This course also focuses on such aspects of local government, in both large and small urban areas, as planning, bureaucratic administration, social services, economic issues, the political policy-making process, and civil rights will be discussed in depth.

POLS 481 Politics of Regulation and Land Use (3-4)
An examination of regulatory policies as they affect business and land use decisions in the United States. Structural, legal, and procedural aspects of the regulatory process are explored along with reform and deregulation. Explores the economic, environmental, and political consequences of land use control.

POLS 483 Politics of Wealth and Poverty (4)
Course focuses upon conditions and causes of poverty; wealth and income inequality in the U.S.; and the variety of economic, social, governmental, and political responses that have occurred in recent decades. Of particular concern are the role of the government’s income redistribution and social programs, and the function of values, political interest groups, and social science findings in shaping these policies.

POLS 484 Elections and Voter Behavior (4)
Course examines the impact of the new styles and techniques of political campaigning on both the public decision-making process and control over public policy. Modern techniques of analysis and voter manipulation are discussed, along with the characteristics and behavior of the electorate and their historical patterns of political participation.

POLS 485 Political Power and Social Isolation (4)
The course explores a wide variety of personal, social and political meanings of community, including the decline of social and civic participation, political powerlessness, and theories of social fragmentation and political change. Recent theories link both economic development and community improvement to an ability to increase levels of “social capital.” Given its focus, this course will be of particular interest to those concerned with these policy areas, or with a general discussion of the societal milieu of politics and government.

POLS 486 Selected Issues: International Politics (3-4)
An examination of current topics and developments in global politics, such as regional conflicts, North-South issues, economic interdependence, and environmental issues. Title varies to reflect specific content each semester. May be repeated for credit with different topic.
