THREE WAVES: WOMEN AND RESISTANCE, 1848-2018
Instructor: Amy Elizabeth Robinson – amy@turningplanet.org
Wednesdays, 9/26-10/31, 9:30-11:30am – The Cooperage, SSU

WEEK THREE 10/10
Interlude: Feminism, Internationalism, and Civil Rights 1920-1960

Recommended Reading:
• National Women’s History Museum: http://www.crusadeforthevote.org/bibliographies/
• Christine Bolt, Sisterhood Questioned? Race, Class and Internationalism in the American and British Women’s Movements, c.1880s-1970s
• Teresa A. Meade and Merry Wiesner-Hanks, eds. A Companion to Gender History
• Rosalind Rosenberg, Jane Crow: The Life of Pauli Murray
• Brittney Cooper, “Black, queer, feminist, erased from history” in Salon: https://www.salon.com/2015/02/18/black_queer_feminist_erased_from_history_meet_the_most_important_legal_scholar_youve_likely_never_heard_of/

I. Winning the Vote
   What were the strategies, blind spots, and expectations of women who worked for suffrage in the early 20th century?

II. The View from the Pacific
   What if we shift our perspective?

III. Women, War, and Empire
   How have war, imperialism, nationalism, and anti-colonialism shaped feminist thought and action?

IV. Women, Work, and Civil Rights
   Rethinking Rosa Parks and remembering Pauli Murray.

Resources for topics discussed last week:
• The Celia Project: A Research Collaboration on the History of Slavery and Sexual Violence - https://sites.lsa.umich.edu/celiaproject/
• “Women’s Place and Men’s Place in Separate Spheres Ideology” - https://www.thoughtco.com/separate-spheres-ideology-3529523