Sonoma State University (SSU or Sonoma State), a comprehensive residential public institution located in Rohnert Park, California, seeks a visionary and collaborative leader to serve as Vice President of Student Affairs and Enrollment Management. This is an exciting opportunity to provide essential administrative leadership at one of California’s most popular institutions, unique in its liberal arts and sciences mission and located less than an hour away from the economically booming San Francisco Bay Area amidst the natural beauty of Sonoma County. The Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management will work closely with SSU’s dynamic new President, Judy Sakaki, who is a champion for students everywhere and whose most recent post before joining Sonoma State was as Vice President for Student Affairs for the University of California system. This is an exciting time to join the university.

Sonoma State has approximately 9,400 students (92 percent undergraduate). U.S. News and World Report consistently names SSU among “America’s Best Colleges.” Founded as a liberal arts college in 1961, Sonoma State has evolved into a diversified university with six schools—Arts and Humanities, Business and Economics, Education, Extended & International Education, Science and Technology and Social Sciences—that provide students with the intellectual framework and hands-on skills to thrive in a variety of professional careers. A major contributor to the North Bay workforce, Sonoma State offers degrees in 46 majors and 47 minors at the bachelor’s level and 15 at the master’s level, as well as nine credential programs and eight undergraduate and graduate certificate programs. The University operates as part of the 23-campus California State University (CSU) system, the largest four-year system of higher education in the United States.

Sonoma State has a longstanding tradition of promoting intellectual and personal growth, leadership opportunities and technological proficiency. There is tremendous excitement and energy on campus after new President Judy Sakaki’s arrival, as she works to build upon this tradition and refocus attention on student success and the academic mission of the University. The Vice President will play a pivotal role in this shift, overseeing all student support programs and services as well as providing leadership, vision and direction for the departments within the Student Affairs Division.

Mission and Academic Programs
The academic mission of Sonoma State University is to prepare students to be leamed people who have a foundation for lifelong learning; have a broad cultural perspective; have a keen appreciation of intellectual and aesthetic achievements; will be active citizens and leaders in society; are capable of pursuing fulfilling careers in a changing world; and are concerned with contributing to the health and well-being of the world at large. To achieve its mission, Sonoma State recognizes that its first obligation is to develop and maintain excellent programs of undergraduate instruction grounded in the liberal arts and sciences. Instructional programs are designed to challenge students not only to acquire knowledge but also to develop the skills of critical analysis, careful reasoning, creativity, and self-expression. Excellence in undergraduate education requires that students participate in a well-planned program that provides both a liberal education and opportunities for specific career preparation.

Since 1963, Sonoma State has been fully accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC), and the University received a seven-year accreditation in 2010; many Sonoma State schools and programs are individually accredited. Sonoma State is a member of the prestigious Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC), whose primary mission is ensuring that a fine undergraduate liberal arts and sciences education is available to students in the public system of higher education.

Student and Campus Life
The Sonoma State campus community is ethnically diverse, and sixty-four percent of Sonoma State students receive some type of financial aid; Sonoma State awards approximately $1.1 million in scholarships per year (academic scholarships, athletics, and performing arts). The University has a 60/40 female-to-male ratio. The majority of Sonoma State students come from California, although countries all over the world are represented within the student body. As of fall 2013, 29 percent of first-time freshmen come from Southern California counties, and 21 percent of all of Sonoma State’s students are from Southern California counties. About 20 percent of first year students and 37 percent of all students come from Sonoma’s service area (Lake, Marin, Mendocino, Napa, Solano, and Sonoma Counties). The University is also proud to have recently received designation as a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI).

Student Affairs
The Division of Student Affairs is comprised of a number of independent yet interconnected departments responsible for helping students build a Sonoma State presence that complements their academic experience. Focusing on leadership, personal responsibility, self-advocacy, and lifelong learning the Division engages students by developing the personal and professional skills needed to be successful in life.

Position Purpose
Reporting to the President, the Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management (Vice President) oversees the Student Affairs Division and serves as the Chief Student Affairs Officer for Sonoma State University. This cabinet-level position works collaboratively with other members of the senior leadership team to foster a climate focused on student success, service excellence, and data-informed decisions in alignment with the University’s mission, vision, and goals. The Vice President is responsible for leadership, integration, and management of the campus division that houses student life functions, as well as academic support and enrollment management. This includes responsibility for all academic and non-academic student service programs.

Major Duties
The Vice President for Student Affairs is charged with providing leadership and direction for the Student Affairs Division. Major duties of the position include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Serve as the President’s chief advisor on student affairs and enrollment management issues and engage all university constituencies in focusing on student success;
- Collaborate with campus leadership, including the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs, to ensure a culture that promotes recruitment, retention and completion for diverse student populations through coordinated campus initiatives and resources;
- Develop, implement, and coordinate integrated campus-based programs and services that meet the varying needs of a culturally diverse traditional and non-traditional student population and encourage the success of all students;
- Maintain a visible profile with campus constituencies; partner collaboratively to enhance communication on and off campus; and anticipate emerging issues;
- Lead efforts to effectively employ information systems and technology in support of student affairs and enrollment management programs;
- Identify and use institutional and external data and research to support effective recruitment, and retention initiatives;
- Provide leadership in the development of new initiatives within the division;
- Develop criteria and procedures for the evaluation of services and programs offered in the division;
